

Site Design

In the final website assignment, I want to design a website to introduce the traditional food and places of interest of Guangzhou, which is my favourite city. I have been to Guangzhou for many times, I enjoyed the food in Guangzhou and the places there.

The assignment includes a home page and two secondary pages. In the home page, firstly, a briefly introduction to Guangzhou will be introduced, then we'll introduce the main content of the food page and places page of Guangzhou. The template of the home page is as below.

I choose the Monochromatic colour scheme with brown as the website main color, since I think the color brown is agree with the city Guangzhou, which is historic but also full of energy.

To make visually appealing and easy to the food and places pages, we use the Design principal C.R.A.P. The contrast principle is used in the framework, the Repetition principal is used in the design of the two secondary page, the Alignment principal is used in both of the three web page, then Proximity principle is used in colour. The template of food page and places page is as below
